ARE HISTORIC NAMES TO BE FORGOTTEN

Was a Clerk's Error be Allowed to Change Location and Name of Roads?

A comparative new comer to Palatine township, in a letter to the residents of Palatine (and other townships) have allowed the probable error on the part of some clerk in the highway department to change the spelling and location of roads that have been identified with early history of the locality.

Eighty years ago Quentin road extending from Lake county, south to Algonquin road, was established and named for the Quentin family. The son of the pioneer for whom that road was named and who resided upon its most important corner over three score years died last week revealing that said road is now spelled upon sign posts and maps "Q-u-i-n-t-e-n" in place of "Q-u-i-n-t-a-n" as our forefathers established it.

"Why?" asks the reader. Palatine road extends in a straight line through three townships and identifies Palatine township and Palatine village, yet Palatine people call the street "Chicago Avenue." "Why?" asks the reader.

Palatine is not the only community at fault in allowing incongruity of names. Arlington Heights road, which extends in an almost straight line from Lake County through Cook county into Du Page county, is Arlington Heights road, but Arlington Heights people not realizing the importance of identifying its most important north and south artery with the name of the town, call it State road.

Why?

Chicago avenue and State street mean something in Chicago, but mean nothing to do with Palatine, an Arlington Heights, or why "Why?" our big neighbor in the framing of our streets. Lower according to highway signs placed on Route 12 within a half mile of each other, there are two Rohlfing roads within the village of Palatine. The first sign is placed at the intersection of Hicks road (Route 53) and the Northwest highway. The second sign is placed at the intersection of the highway and Rohlfing road. Old timers are not confused by the duplication of road names, with the only excuse that why discard "Hicks road," for another name that is identified with a pioneer family.

The letter of the "reader" follows, but the editor of this paper wonders if there will be any local group who are interested in historic continuity sufficiently to have the errors corrected and to ask the village boards of Palatine and Arlington Heights to officially throw Chicago avenue and State road into the scrap heap and give to those two important highways of travel the names that rightfully belong to them.

December 31, 1935

Dear Editor: "Your recent issue of the Palatine Enterprise carried the news of the death of Edward Quentin, born at Quentin Corners eighty years ago. The family name was given to Quentin Road which runs south to the Algonquin Road. At the intersection of Chicago avenue it is spelled Q-u-i-n-t-a-n road, the 'e' and 'i' being misplaced. The county and state and Chicago Tribune maps likewise have Quentens rather than Quentins road. Why?"

"When Commissioner Busse was speaking in Palatine this fall about road improvements, he spoke of Palatine Road, not Chicago avenue. Palatine road is a long one through the county and identifies the township. Why has the village of Palatine robbed itself of its locative street that so well identifies it, and changed Palatine Road to Chicago avenue, where it goes through the village? What has been gained? Chicago avenue does not go to Chicago. Certainly the street has the same name in Chicago as anything desirable to copy. Copies of 1852 call Palatine "Glenview." Names change, but why destroy historical continuity altogether. There is not even a jog in Palatine Road to give a reason for the change."

"N. X. Chicagoan."

1935, A Busy Year in Arlington

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

The year 1935 has been a busy 12 months for the municipality of Arlington Heights. In January tests of the new well revealed that water supply had been obtained that was ample for many years to come. The final work, final approval with final payment of the government grant due to the village on its $50,000 water improvement P. W. A. project were completed early in the year. In the final settlement, three bonds were cancelled and the water accounts were set up in a manner which means the gradual retirement without taxation of the $35,000 bonds issued by the village to pay for its share of the improvement that has given Arlington Heights one of the finest water supply systems in northern Illinois.

The park project which has been started under the WPA is of prime importance to the village. The government gave its approval of a $90,000 project and it is now in process of construction. It is too early to speak authoritatively as to its outcome, but it is generally admitted that Arlington Heights has been very fortunate and has everything to gain and very little to lose even if the government should call a halt to its WPA program, which is very unlikely. The park work will be completed by spring.

No word has been received from the government relative to the swimming pool project, but the present park project provides for its location, if its construction is later given sanction by the government. The village board has had sufficient confidence in the park project that it has entered into tentative contracts with the owners of the property, thereby securing right to make the improvements. However, its definite purchase waits settlement in 1936 with either the village or the park board as the purchasers.

The re-election of village officials gave the endorsement of the voters to the Flentie administration. Other important events of the year were:

Four per cent warrants sold at par.

Purchase new truck and motorcycle.

Lower vehicle license fees.

When a business street through R. R. property at little expense to village with use of relief labor.

Pass own traffic code.

Gets approval of $54,000 in work relief projects for repairs, etc., including work on outlet ditch and relief sewers.

The village has believed in using the gas tax money for practical purpose and has repaired and constructed a number of roads within the village that otherwise would have been neglected. Among these were Walnut and Thomas street which were previously unpaved.

East Euclid and Campbell street were given new surfaces. Foundry road was repaired. All of the expense for this improvement came from the village's share of gas tax money and cost the village nothing.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUND

Supervised play became a reality in Arlington Heights last summer, when funds were raised by subscription to pay two directors. Trips to the Barrington pool became so general that a movement was started to ask the government to construct a pool in Arlington Heights.

The park district was enlarged at a special session held in December to the same boundaries as the village.

A snow slide constructed on the southside park was put into first use this week. The slide is built in sections and will be re-erected each year.

GENERAL REVIEW

St. Peter's church observed during the year the celebration of its 75th anniversary which took the form of a series of special services and days.

The first and only dividend so far paid on the Arlington Heights State bank was released to stockholders in February.

The IER projects started in Arlington March 1 and were continued throughout the year with exception of period when all IER work was abandoned in the state.

Rex. Volz was named superintendent of Div. 1 of the Cook county forest preserves in January. O. G. Barrett was re-elected farm adviser in March and Mrs. Dodge was appointed postmistress in April.

St. John's church announced a new policy in July which provides for no solicitations for funds, bakery sales, etc., the church finances being covered entirely by voluntary subscriptions.

Park Board Gives Boys and Girls a Real Slide

The Arlington Heights park district has given to the boys and girls a real slide. Construction of a portable slide 16 feet high was started by the park board at the southside park last week and was ready for operation New Year's day. The slide has safety provisions to safeguard the bones of the boys and girls who use it, and will be available each year hereafter.

Heavy Snow Blinds Driver; Hits Itasca Car

Sheriff's Highway Police investigating the accident Dec. 25th, in which Miss Evelyn Morton of Chicago, sustained several injuries, attributed it to poor vision caused by the heavy continuous downfall of snow. Miss Morton was an occupant in the car of Mr. John Soukup of Oak Park, which struck the car of Mr. Jesse Becker of Itasca, while he was waiting to make a left turn into Prairie R. R. yards on Lake street.

State Teachers Association Endorse County Unit Plan For Schools of Illinois

N. J. Puffer Elected Vice-President of County Superintendent's Association; and a Member of Important Legislative Committee

The Illinois State Teachers' Association, meeting in Springfield, closed one of their most successful conventions with an endorsement of the County Unit as a means of reorganizing the schools of the State of Illinois. Among other things which they endorsed were:

1. State Aid to schools for at least one-third the cost of educating each child from kindergarten through the University.

2. An official state-wide campaign to enforce payment of delinquent taxes.

3. A graduated State Income tax to replace the present Retailers' Occupational Tax, insofar as it extends to schools.

The plan of making the county an educational unit, as approved by the State Teachers' Association, would mean that County Board of Education, except in Cook county, would be named by boards of supervisors. The Boards would endorse minimum requirements for schools, teachers and other educational matters.

The State Association of County Superintendents of Illinois elected Albert Walker of Moultrie county as president; Noble J. Puffer of Cook county, vice president; Cora Ryman of Macon county, as secretary; Robert M. Ring, Edwards county, treasurer.

Mr. Puffer was also appointed a member of the Legislative committee to serve for the coming year, as a member of a committee of three, which will endeavor to assist in securing the proper financial support and legislation for the schools of Illinois.

Miss Edna Mair and Mrs. N. J. Puffer of Palatine, were also in attendance at the State Teachers' convention.

Mt. Prospect Couple Chose Christmas For Wedding Day

As Christmas bells rang out on Christmas day also did wedding bells at 3 p. m. by the light of the Christmas tree in the home of Mrs. Herman Bigel when her eldest daughter, Clara and Elmer Forke, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forke were united in holy wedlock by the Rev. J. E. A. Mueller of Mt. Prospect. The strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played. Miss Helene Paul of Chicago, the bride party proceeded to the living room, led by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forke. He followed the groom and his brother, Clemens, who was best man, they took their places by the lighted Christmas tree, next came the maid of honor, Miss Adeline Forke, sister of the groom, groomed in plum colored velvet and brown slippers, carrying a bouquet of bronze mums and baby's breath, tied with a changeable ribbon to match, and then came the lovely bride on the arm of her mother. The bride was becomingly groomed in white transparent velvet trimmed with lace, with a beautiful train of lace and velvet. Her lace trimmed veil was held in place by a cap edged with tiny orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas, baby breath, and daisy mums tied with a beautiful white ribbon.

The mother of the bride wore her wedding dress of black silk trimmed in orchid, the groom's mother was attired in black silk crepe. Both mothers wore a corsage of orchid mums tied with a silver ribbon.

The groom and his best man wore dark blue suits, the groom wore a white rose on his lapel, while the best man wore a bronze mum.

The living room was decorated in orchid and white, and the dining room in pink and white.

The happy couple received very useful gifts with good wishes from the guests, and a very inspiring address was given by Rev. Mueller, which will be a ray of sunshine on their journey through life.

At present they are making their home with the bride's mother at Mount Prospect.

Marriage Free During Leap Year If Bride Does the Proposing

Judge Wm. E. Kopplin of Arlington Heights has offered to perform without fee all marriages during 1936, where the bride admits that she did the proposing. For the first couple which accepts Mr. Kopplin's offer, the Herald will pay the county license fee. And here are three supplementary offers for that first couple.

If the stork stops during 1936 at the home of that first couple, the Emerald shop will give a baby's layette, the Arlington Bootery, a pair of first step shoes and G. H. Wilke, a silver mug and spoon.

In commenting upon the offer, Mr. Kopplin stated Thursday: "The modern girl is not as bashful as her older sister and there may be many acceptances of my offer. There is no reason why any girl should not seek happiness in place of waiting for it to pass her by."

Rob Louie's Tavern But Manager Set For Second Visit

Men, all armed, entered Louie's Tavern, at North ave., and River road, Christmas eve and after ordering the patrons to lie on the floor, took everything but the fixtures. Mr. Gauger the proprietor, evidently expected the men to return again in the near future, for on Dec. 27th when 2 hoodlums entered his place and pronounced, "this is a stick-up," Mr. Gauger felt quite at ease, in view of the fact that he had locked everything up, and the men left empty handed. Sheriff's Highway Police are now keeping a steady watch in that vicinity for suspicious persons.

Palatine Track Star Keeps in Training At Washington School

Eddie Hahnfeldt, Palatine track star, returned to school at Bullis Prep, Washington, D. C., Thursday after spending a few days at home, the first vacation since he entered the academy in September. The academy is principally interested in preparing "would-be" Annapolis and West Point students. With an enrollment of about sixty, the school closes in April. Eddie will take an examination April 16 for entrance in the naval academy next fall.

Strict military discipline and observance of health rules has made the state discus champion more fully equipped to handle the weights than ever. As a member of the football team, he did his share in the backfield until an ankle injury crippled him for nearly a month. Basketball is not one of the activities of the school but Eddie is finding plenty of exercise to keep him in trim during the winter months.

Garden Club Hold Party, Elect Officers

The Palatine Garden club held the annual luncheon and Xmas party at the home of Mrs. Mayme Mangels, last Friday. After the luncheon a short business meeting was held with election as follows:

Vice President, Mayme Mangels. Treasurer, Lillian Bergman. Secretary, Lillian Brodman.

The annual program as prepared by the committee was accepted. It has some very interesting programs arranged.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Heide.

"At Last a Skating Pond," Say Children Of Palatine

For years a few enterprising people of Palatine have endeavored to secure a skating pond for Palatine, but it was not until the Lions club and the American Legion combined their efforts that the idea bore fruit. Through the courtesy of these two organizations, a skating pond has been flooded in a plot of ground east of the high school and it was well patronized by the young people during the holidays.

Volz, Wheeling, $581.09; Christian D. Busse, Elk Grove, $244.22; Carl L. Rohde, Maine, $2,482.78; Raymond C. Kiehne, Niles, $1,025.89; Fred Rugen, Sr., Northfield, $526.29; total, $6,147.39.

Deaths Exceed Births In Arlington Heights

With fifty deaths and 43 births recorded in the books of the local registrar, Arlington Heights has lost more citizens than have come into this world. Some of the birth certificates may not have been filed with the village clerk when this data was obtained, but if such a condition existed in fascist Italy, the mothers and dads would hear from Mussolini.

The boys and girls recorded in the list of births are about equal in number.

Born in Hamburg, Germany, he came to this country at the age of three. He was engaged as a carpenter and in recent years had lived with his son, William, 2002 Henley street.

Traub of Des Plaines, and then ran riderless onto Touhy ave., Dec. 29th at the Des Plaines river where it was struck by a car being driven by Mr. J. J. McCarthy of Joliet, Ill. The horse was injured and Sheriff's Highway Police investigating, were requested to shoot the horse by its owner who was notified of the accident. No damage was done, nor was any individual injured.

Stoker Now Fires Boiler At Palatine Municipal Building; Cuts Costs

After a month of trial, the new stoker at the Palatine Village hall is living up to all expectations, and the village is realizing a big saving in its fuel bill. The stoker was estimated to bring about a saving of 35% in coal and it has done just that, says Engineer John Clark. It also provides an even temperature to the building at all times, which is especially appreciated by the village "boarders."

During 1935 Palatine

The 1935 files of the Palatine Enterprise reveal that a lot of space and printers' ink was wasted during the year in trying to help solve the railway gate problem. A year ago better protection at the C. & N. W. R. R. crossings within the village was a live issue, a heritage from the previous year. The hearings which opened before the I. C. C. in January, were forgotten until July 20 when the death of a family of four upon one of the crossings again revived the issue, only to have it again die when 49 property owners of Slade street registered their disapproval of the plans to close that highway as part of the safety campaign.

The continued pollution of Salt Creek by Palatine, was continually brought to the attention of the village board by the sanitary board, but no solution was found during the year.

The village did make financial progress. After years of efforts that got nowhere, the present county treasurer, Gill, admitted the liability of his office to the village of Palatine for thousands of dollars of special assessment and general tax money. A payment on Oct. 28 of approximately $10,000 of general tax funds was the forerunner of other payments that has enabled the village to pay some of its past bills. The budget of the village is balanced with expenses less that income.

Bandits visited Palatine twice during the year, both times at W. R. Comfort Sons. Their visit there March 2 was a complete surprise and netted the bandits nearly $200. Their second visit was Sept. 28, but the returns were only $29.

Word from the secretary of state that officially the village of Palatine did not exist, did not excite anybody and the village continued to do business along former old lines.

The first new house to be erected in Palatine in five years was built the past summer.

N. J. Puffer, a resident of Palatine, assumed the office of county superintendent of schools in August in spite of the threat of his predecessor that he would prevent it.

Palatine National Bank paid an additional dividend of 12% bringing the total to 40% since that institution closed.

With the death of Mr. Iler, principal of the high school, J. L. Reusser was elected to that position on Jan. 4 and J. E. Clettenberg was chosen principal of the elementary school four days later. H. S. Dixon came to the elementary school as coach.

C. J. Megel, high school coach resigned to take a position in the Chicago high schools. A course in agriculture was added to the curriculum of the high school, which was welcomed by students from farming districts and has proven to be very much worth while. Palatine is one of the few schools in the northwest conference presenting such a course.

H. A. Kincaid, a former instructor and coach in the local high school, was elected president of the board of education. The 1935 graduating class numbered 43.

Palatine basketball team defeated Barrington to tie for the conference championship.

Palatine was officially given a class five rating by the Chicago board of underwriters, thereby lowering insurance cost in the business district.

Chief W. R. Comfort of the Palatine fire department, was elected president of the Cook County firemen's association, and the local department was host to that association upon July 8.

There were only three fires during the year upon two of these the loss was less than $20. The third fire, at home of Mrs. Mudloff, occurred in December with a loss of $500.

CUPID HAS A BUSY YEAR ALSO STORK

Cupid found Palatine an excellent hunting ground during 1935. There were twenty-two marriages, more than has been any year since the start of the depression.

The stork has also broken its records in the number of stops that have been made to local homes. While the records of the local registrar do not cover all of the births, a total of fifty-four is reported.

Death has taken forty of Palatine residents, four of them, all members of one family, by accident.

The following table tells the story of general realty and personal property tax collections for each of the townships, as well as for the county as a whole:

Township Gains

Yet York's payments of taxes were nearly 8 per cent better than last year, it being second in this respect only to Milton, where nearly 9 per cent more taxes were paid. Lisle and Naperville Townships were nearly 7 per cent better; Downers Grove 5 per cent, and Winfield nearly 4, while in Addison, Bloomington and Wayne there was little difference in the percentages for the two years.

This greater proportion of gain in the larger townships is another evidence of the pressure that has been brought to bear on large taxpayers to settle up their accounts with the county.

The following table tells the story of general realty and personal property tax collections for each of the townships, as well as for the county as a whole:

Old Shoes at Wedding
The significance of throwing old shoes after a bride couple is uncertain. The custom appears to be of purely English origin. Rev. E.
Cobham Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable declares: "In Anglo-Saxon marriages the father delivered the bride's shoe to the bridegroom, who touched her with it on the head to show his authority."

St. James Sponsors
Radio Talent
Contest Jan. 10
An announcement of extraordinary interest was made today when it was learned that the St. James church have made definite arrangements for a genuine "Opportunity Contest" to be held at the St.
James Auditorium on January 10, with everyone in this community interested in a stage or radio career, invited to participate.
George Olsen, one of America's foremost orchestra leaders, who with his charming and talented wife, Ethel Shutta, are headlining in the famous College Inn of the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, have taken unto themselves the title, "Ye New Talent Scouts." George Olsen and Ethel Shutta broadcast regularly over WBBM from the College Inn, and are in search of new talent to appear with them on their regular Friday program.
An elimination contest is to be held locally for the purpose of selecting a winner from our community, who in turn will compete against winners of similar contests held in our neighboring cities. The final winner will be given an opportunity to appear as a part of the floor show during the College Inn, Chicago, with George Olsen and Ethel Shutta over WBBM.
This final winner will receive a trip to Chicago with all expenses paid, and while in Chicago will be the guest of the Hotel Sherman.
The contest originally was dated for Dec. 27, but has been postponed until Jan. 10.

MERLE GUILD POST
No. 208
AMERICAN LEGION
The last district meeting was held Wednesday, December 11, with Conley Post as host. In spite of the fact that this was the night that the Past Commanders club was putting on its big show "The Belles of '90," there was a large turnout at the District meeting.
Our District Adjutant Leo Wulfson certainly knows how to write up the minutes and this time he did it "brown." Leo covered everything from the opening of the doors by the Janitor to the last rap of the gavel by Commander Berghard.
Many important and interesting things were taken up that night—Comrade Aaron Glickman, employment committee report, was very good and it showed just how much effort our committee was going to —in getting jobs for ex-service men.
Joe Dorfman, state chairman of the Junior Legion Squads spoke stating that Illinois was well up in Squadron work and then went on to tell what the Squads are attempting to do—first of all we are teaching the boys "Americanism" and by that we mean—law abiding and an understanding of what our form of government means. Safety will play a great part in Squadron work for 1933 and plans are now for a Nation wide Safety campaign sponsored by the Squads. Joe O'Brien our District Squadron chairman, spoke stating that in the ninth district there were ten squadrons formed with ten more applying for charters—a splendid record.
Joe spoke about the Boys State to be held at Springfield this coming year—our post squadron chairman will tell about this in our next meeting.
Guy Wilson, R. O. T. C. chairman for the ninth district, spoke asking the district's permission to obtain radio station WGN consent to put on Legion R. O. T. C. programs during their now non-sponsored time.
Here is a bit of good news—The Legion rifle team competing with Army, Navy and Marine teams in a tournament at Camp Perry this year—won the championship and here is where we of the ninth district have reason to crow—two members from Des Plaines Post are members of the rifle team.
Our Command was presented with a Stability Award—for having a 50% paid up membership in the night of the installation. Les says he is very proud of the award and wishes to take this opportunity to thank our members for the support shown our membership committee.
Don't forget the District's dance to be held at the Lion's club, North Avenue near Grand on Saturday night, February 1. Lee Hill is planning on seeing a lot of Merle Guild members there and we won't disap-point him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 29.
The Golden Text was, "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee" (Isaiah 60:1).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.
Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 5:14-16).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"If Christianity is not scientific, and Science is not of God, then there is no invariable law, and truth becomes an accident. Shall it be denied that a system which works according to the Scriptures has Scriptural authority?" (p. 342).

Malta has watched civilizations rise and fall and empires wax and wane, and hasn't done much about it except increase its own birth rate. In the Sixteenth century there were only 16,576 inhabitants of the Isle of Malta. Today there are more than 235,000. Valetta is the capital and named after its found-

OBSERVER'S NOTES

Happy New Year! There you go! Said the same last year we know; Yet has not to me and you, Happy New Year wish come true? Has there not through all the year? Been much happiness and cheer? Sadness came and grief the while, Still gave way to a glad smile; Hear the shouting, hear the drums, Happy New Year! Here it comes! Happy New Year, one and all, New ways beckon new hopes call; Courage comrades, on and on, Each new day brings new life dawn.

The old forgotten paths! Would we return to them? Life is ever new, life never ends. Its brief years pass in the imperfect hours, but the opening door to the eternal, to which we enter here below. Don't say one year is just like another. Each new year opens new avenues of opportunity and of endeavor. Up and on, this new year is unfolding the best for you.

Don't look back over the old year counting your successes and money values. Remember the life is more than that or drink, and there is a gathering together that impoverish and a scattering abroad that increaseth.

Just make up your mind at the dawn of this new year to get out yourself and think of others, it would be wholesome for you, for each of us, to thus insure a bright happy New Year for self.

Doing good by the rules of arithmetic, somehow creates a distaste in me. It may be well to tithe and give certain amounts for this and that good work, yet a good act that comes spontaneously without calculation, gives and brings greatest joy.

Here I go preaching and there be those who are specially called and paid for that, or are they paid? Ask them. One of the greatest preachers I ever knew, once told me I was called to preach, sometimes to preachers!

The New Year this far has done beautiful things for us. See the snow so white and clean that is doing all possible to cover up last year's meanness and dirt. Wish we could do the same in our little corner of this big globe, and turn the bright cheerful side of our lives and daily contacts, bright side out.

This morning our first call over phone was from our dear shut-in friend, Mrs. Berchtold, telling us her Robin came back to sing to her Christmas morning; could there have been a more welcome note of cheer and a kind neighbor who built an up-to-date hen house, fed the best food to his early spring brood of well kept chickens, was guarded by the first egg, the day after Christmas.

Another neighbor came in this morning and laid on our table a great golden globe, a grape fruit grown on his brothers' place in Texas, and in his other hand a lot of prunes from his sisters' home near San Francisco. The best prunes ever. Notice, I'm telling you the bright good that comes in the new year.

If you have made all manner of mistakes and failures in the passing year. Who has not? Try, try again. When we were children we used to make comical attempts at drawing on our slates. Failure did not dismay as we rubbed the failure out of sight, and began over again. This new year is your new, clean slate, be careful.

Make up your mind at the beginning of this new year, to get out side of self and think of others. It will be wholesome for you and the best means of assuring a bright, happy year for yourself and for others. If the old year is leaving you dissatisfied with your own growth and higher achievement, choose higher ideals and nobler standards so that the end of this new year may find you broader minded more generous and more reverent with "Charity for all" and malice toward none. Not what you get in material things nor what you give of riches, helps you to grow. It is what you do and what you are, gives you joy in life.

Ring out the old, ring in the new; Ring happy bells across the snow; The year is going, let him go, Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind, For those that here, we see no more; Ring out the feud of rich and poor, Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civil slander and the spite; Ring in the love of truth and right, Ring in our common brotherhood.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease, Ring out the narrowing lust of gold; Ring out the thousand wars of old, Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Heard a self-denying person say the other day, when she had anything to give her difficulty, was to know where to give it, who would most need and be the better furnished by her gift to our grief we sometimes hear of some one who much wished for something we could have gladly given a lad not far from us, a boy we think much of. We had two Christmas trees given us by kind friends, one came just the night before Christmas and a day or two later we heard about this lad longing for a Christmas tree and had none. How happy we would have been to give dear Richard one or both of our trees, had we known.

A Happy New Year to all! 366 good days. What are you going to do with them? "This month shall be unto you the beginning of months. It shall be the first month of the year, so saith the "Book of Books." That will be the Calendar record, but to you and to me comes many a beginning month and year, not so set down in the calendar of time.

"The old year passes," so we say, Haunting a new year in today; Though years in rhythmic hymns repeat, Man's measure is his own heart beat; A good deed done, a vanquished sin, Each hour a new year ushers in; And in each nobler work we do, That day a year is born anew; While men for eons time divide, God and eternity abide.

Told you my resolve was to speak, write and dwell on only the pleasant, happy happenings at the beginning of the new year. What so blessed as the assurance that we are remembered by our friends my prayer is "God make me worthy of my friends."

"California, here they come," Louis and June, with their greeting which speaks for all the eight. "Of course you know I wouldn't fail, to wish you cheer on a great big scale." L. G. Helm, cheer for Christmas and good wishes for New Year. Harold and Ora, "May Christmas bring the joy the wise men knew," Mrs. Griffin comes with the best angel message, "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men." J. J. Dietrich finds keeping busy is the best forward for grief. Glad to know he is looking forward to seeing old Heights friends early this year. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hofstetter, picture the home fires burning and in its glow they send happy cheery messages for all from "Al and Zelma" the A. and Z. of the whole message from dear old friends, not far away in heart and purpose. Their's reads, "May the joy of Christmas help to make the New Year glad." Once more whether in California or near our home, we thank God for friends.

"Watchman what of the night?" All over the world today a shadow, as of night, has fallen. Wherever men or on the street, this question is being asked "What do you think of the war?" It is the dread haunting terror everywhere.

Are there watchmen today who from higher planes of faith and experience, see with clearer vision, the hand of the Lord still works in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. Who would cheer us to believe that out of this darkest night of dread and threats of war "The morning cometh?"

Way back in 1914, we boasted of 21 bursting mail sacks received at the office. For Christmas, 1935, we hear there were eighty-five full sacks received at the post office. Yes, a big increase, but that is not out of proportion to the vast increase in population. Let us not boast. Once more we do fervently appeal to our leaders, some of whom we believe to be on the tower to protect us from war.

O Watchman! So steadfast and true, Far seeing a world from yon height; Say what of the struggle and strain, As millions go down in the fight; The crushed, the mangled, the slain, The bleeding, the blackness of war; The soul of the world cries to you O what are these agonies for, Tell Watchman, what of the night?

O watchman discerning and wise, Where peace is the boast of a land, Exulting in peace that is vain, While smoke from its shops doth arise, Where they forge deaths missiles for gain, And barter with shedders of blood, Base boosters its magnates of might, The simple have not understood, Tell us watchman what of the night.

O Watchman, black is the hour, And darkness envelops the earth, Dense darkness, darker than night, With gloatings for greed and for power, Discernment departs and a dearth, Of judgment confuses the earth Mammion rules in the temples of light, Where men mock in madness of mirth, O Watchman, what of the night?

The Watchman calm, in his tower, Looks over a world wide alarm, For he knows, though black is the night, Our God will not shorten His arm, All magnates of Mammion and might, In the length and breath of the land, Who for gain war rage do incite, God holdeth their lives in His hand, And armies and kings in His power, The Watchman by faith on your height, Sees soon the dark shadows will fly, To our questioning "What of the Night?" "Morn cometh rings out his reply."

A happy New Year to all! Citizens, neighbors, friends, May you have time for the task, strength for the struggle, Grit for the grind, grace for the grievance and God's blessing for all. Dollars for debts. God bless you all. Elinore Crisler Haynes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will have their regular meeting Thursday, Jan. 9, at 8 p. m., at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Gus Bittner is moving from the Henry Wolf flat to Barrington.

The N. L. Thompson family was surprised recently to have Ernst Schreiner of Royal Oaks, Mich., and former instructor in Palatine Lutheran school, stop there for a short call. When a resident of Palatine, Mr. Schreiner made his home with the Torglers.

The Young People's society of the St. Paul's church held a sleighing party Monday evening and stopped in at Mrs. H. H. Deverman, afterwards for coco and refreshments, surprising Leslie Deverman on his birthday.

Mrs. H. C. Deverman is recovering from a severe cold.

Miss Porter, Newman, Ill., is a guest at the home of the Rev. John C. Voeks.

Geo. Leseberg, who has been joined at the high school many years, has resigned. His place has been taken by Henry F. Pohlman.

Miss McCune, formerly of Palatine, called on friends here New Years day.

There were many New Years parties around Palatine and a goodly number of them ended up at the Catlow Theatre.

A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. John Vondruska at Sherman hospital, Elgin.

After attending the midnight show New Years at a neighboring theatre and seeing the disgusting antics of six young Palatine fellows, who gave every indication of being drunk, one wonders why it is that drunks were exclusive Palatine products. The action of those boys who have graduated from the Palatine high school within the last few years, indicate that there is something rotten in Denmark. Those boys deserved a sound spanking.

The Palatine American Legion Post No. 690 will give its annual dance Saturday evening, January 18 at Seip's auditorium. The music will be furnished by Al Wetterer's orchestra. There will be a door prize and refreshments. Men, 50 cents and ladies, 25 cents.

The infant son of the C. C. Urhammers, was baptized at St. Paul's Evangelical church by the Rev. Voeks on Sunday, Dec. 15, receiving the name Evan Paul.

Harold Stuit is spending a few days as a guest of William Bretsnyder.

Jack Bretsnyder will return to Iowa City, Iowa, Monday where he is attending college.

Palatine Rebekah Lodge will have their annual installation Thursday night with Mrs. Grace Barstow of Waukegan as installing officer. Mrs. Florence Roemer will be installed as Noble Grand.

Mrs. Margaret Williams of Racine, Wisconsin, was a guest over the week-end at the home of her sister, Mrs. Minnie Seip.

Miss Eleanor Steinbrink entertained Miss Evelyn Schmolow and Mr. Harold Stuit and Mr. William Bretsnyder Tuesday evening at a midnight party.

Elvis Foster is still confined to his home from an attack of the flu.

Sutherland Womans' Relief corps will hold a public installation Thursday evening, January 9, at the Municipal building at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Minnie Barnaum, as musician, Mrs. Amanda Schoppe, Mrs. Mayme Mangels, Mrs. Arvilla Hanns and Mrs. Gertrude Smith as color bearers, will assist at the installation of the Woman's Relief corps at Barrington Wednesday night. Mrs. Ethel Reuter will be installed as president.

Mrs. Elnora Foster will install the officers of Butler Corps at Irving Park Friday afternoon, January 10.

Richard Howes is gaining nicely each day. The special nurse has been released.

Mrs. Mayme Mangels entertained her sister, Mrs. Anna Newbould of Cary, for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Seip entertained at dinner Sunday, Mrs. Margaret Williams of Racine, Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. John Fink and daughter, Margaret of Lake Zurich, Mr. Owen Jasper of Chicago, Alice May and Elaine Seip of Des Plaines, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Paltz, Mr. and Mrs. John Mangels and Leighton and Dorothy and John Seip of Palatine.

Mrs. Amanda Schoppe entertained the members of the Concordia Society at her home Thursday afternoon.

Palatine O. E. S. card and bunco party January 8, at 8 p. m. at the Masonic hall.

Miss Alice Holmes spent Christmas with relatives in Janesville, Wis.

Rev. Bloomquist visited friends in Downers Grove Christmas day. Rev. and Mrs. Bloomquist entertained at their home last Monday evening a group of college young people who are home on their vacation. The invited guests were Henrietta Meyers, Vivian Stewart, Emma Grace Trepus, Maurine Roberts, Robert and Stewart Paddock, Lee Blankenship, Frances Reuse, Harris Helgeson and Alfred Regenberg.

Methodist Church.
Women Auxiliary.
Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.
Democratic Prec. No. 2.
Democratic Prec. No. 1.
Jewel Tea Co., Barrington.
Parent Teachers Assn.

Their generous contributions filled the baskets to overflowing. These baskets were delivered to approximately forty of Palatine's needy families on Xmas Eve.

The friendly spirit shown by these organizations has brightened the holidays for many.

Many thanks and a happy new year.

School Bells Ring Students Back to Study

With the holiday season coming to an end next week, college students will be trekking back to school. Among those who have spent the vacation at home are Miss Vivian Stewart, who will rejoin her classmates at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., where she is a freshman. Her only fear in returning to Wisconsin is the fear of another encounter with cold weather such as she experienced before Christmas. The thermometer registered 20 below the vanishing point when she eagerly set out for Palatine and "warm" weather two weeks ago.

The University of Illinois is calling back Miss Maurine Roberts to classes next week while Miss Emma Grace Trepus is returning to DeKalb to Normal school. Miss Alice Ottendorf will be finishing her last semester at Northwestern. Eddie Hahnfeldt has already left for Washington, D. C., where he is attending Bullis Prep school.

Eight young men from Knox college, Galesburg, Illinois, must return to the school of famed football heroes this week end, and are looking forward to an entertaining bit of semester examinations. The Swishers from Palatine are Harris Helgeson, Harold Meyer, Alfred Regenberg, Stuart and Robert Paddock, Lee Blankenship, Frank DeBerge and Kenneth Stroker.

CHAS. HADLEY TO RUN FOR STATE OFFICE

Former DuPage State's Attorney Seeks Nomination for Attorney General

Charles W. Hadley, of Wheaton, assistant Attorney General from 1922 to 1929, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission under Governor Emmerson, and State's Attorney of DuPage County for four terms, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Attorney General.

Mr. Hadley was born on a farm in DuPage county, his grandfather having settled there a century ago. He attended the public schools and college at Wheaton, Illinois, and graduated from the Northwestern University Law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1902, and four years later was elected to his first term as State's Attorney of DuPage county.

As Assistant Attorney General he successfully handled the most important cases of the Attorney General's office, among them being the celebrated Rock Island vice and murder cases.

In announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Attorney General Mr. Hadley said:

"Although it was anything but popular at first, I have been engaged for the last two years in exposing the fallacies and dangers of the New Deal. In numerous speeches throughout the state during this time I have repeatedly called attention to the subversion of state sovereignty and destruction of the United States Constitution.

"In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Attorney General I do so with the sincere belief that in that office I can best serve my State and wage a much more effective battle against the New Deal."

Interest Shown Here in Percheron Draft Horses

Interest in Percherons is manifested in this community by Herbert W. Gray and Son of Roselle, who have recently bought two registered mares from the J. C. Penner-Gavin Farms, Inc., of Noblesville, Ind.

Sales of purified Percheron draft horses for 1935 surpass all records for the last 15 years, according to Ellis McFarland, secretary of the Percheron Horse Association, Chicago, who reports a total of 6,300 purebred Percherons transferred on the records of the association this year. This is the highest number since 1921 when 6,197 sales were reported. Registrations of purebred colts reached a total of 4,826, the highest number recorded since 1923.

These mares are Barton's Laurena II, three years old, and Kathleen, two years old. Both are greys. The former is a daughter of the imported French stallion Barton which has five times won Hoosier Gold Medal Colt Club honors. Kathleen traces to Kapitf, an early foundation sire of the breed. Both mares are in foal to a son of Koncarcalps, popular western sire whose sons head 36 purebred herds in twelve states.

Bensenville Editor's Niece Weds in Oregon To Continue Church Work

Local editor Guy E. Sampson and family this week received an invitation to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Gladys Winn, of Portland, Ore. Miss Winn will be remembered as the Evangelist who spoke at the First Evangelical church in Bensenville a year ago last fall when she visited her uncle's family here while attending the Century of Progress. Her friends whom she made while visiting here, wish for her a happy and successful future which will not doubt be spent in church work with her husband.

Edgewood Church Celebrates First Christmas, 1935

Edgewood Community church, Third and Judson, celebrated its first Christmas program for its Sunday school scholars Dec. 23. A fine program was given by the children for the entertainment of their parents and families. Each child was presented with a lovely book and a box of candy. We are quite proud of our little Sunday school, in the three months of our existence, we have an enrollment of fifty children. Our goal is to double this in the next three.

SEE SHORTAGE OF HOMES IN DUPAGE COUNTY

Survey Just Completed Shows Urgent Need for More Housing

There is an actual shortage of single family dwellings in DuPage county which is becoming more and more acute, a survey just completed by Joseph F. Miller of Wheaton, former secretary of the DuPage County Real Estate Board reveals. The survey made in 19 cities and villages including all of those in north DuPage county shows that out of 21,841 single dwellings registered, only 226 are vacant. This figure is considered far below normal. Thomas O. Meyers, retiring president of the board, states that it is his conviction that the demand for new homes in DuPage county which has been fairly strong during the last few years, will be greatly accelerated in the near future, making new building inevitable. At present the shortage is expected to be reflected in higher rentals.

In north DuPage county the report states that there is not a single place vacant. The prediction is that this will mean higher rents and later on building on a large scale.

JOHN DETTMAN

Mr. John Dettman was born in the Dukedom of Mecklinburg, Germany, Sept. 29, 1864. In 1864 he came to America and made at first Bartlett his home. In the year 1881 he united in holy wedlock with Miss Anna Reinhold. The young couple made their home in Ontarioville, Ill. Later they moved to Roselle, Ill., and again to Itasca, Ill., where they lived about 25 years. The union was blessed with 10 children, five sons and five daughters. One son and two daughters preceded the father into the great beyond.

The last 14 years he lived in River Grove, Mr. Dettman had a healthy constitution and a cheerful disposition and was able to work almost to the end.

In May three years ago he was permitted to celebrate the golden wedding with his life's companion, all children living were present, except the oldest and the youngest.

Lately the departed began to fail in health and a week ago today the doctor was called, heart trouble and old age was the cause that brought him low. He passed away Monday, Dec. 9, at noon, at an age of 82 years, 9 months and 10 days. He is mourned by his beloved wife, who has shared joy and sorrow with him for almost 54 years; by his sons, John, Edward, Herman and Albert; by his daughters, Sophia Franzen, Carrie Eickelmann, and Mary Kolze; by three sons-in-law; 4 daughters-in-law; 17 grandchildren; 6 great grandchildren; and 3 sisters and other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 1:00 p. m. from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Kolze and the Gail Funeral Home at Bensenville, Rev. H. Wagner bringing the message of comfort and consolation. At the Bartlett cemetery he was laid to rest.

"Now the laborer's task is o'er, now the battle day is past; Now upon the farther shore Lands the voyager at last. Father in thy gracious keeping Leave we now thy servant sleeping."

IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO AID DU PAGE CO. TUBERCULOSIS ASSN.

Although it may be too late to use Tuberculosis Christmas Seals on letters and packages now, it is not too late to make a contribution toward the 1936 health program of the DuPage County tuberculosis association.

Officials of the association said today that additional contributions to the Christmas Seal campaign were badly needed to provide the sum necessary to finance the organization's work of finding, preventing and curing tuberculosis.

During December, ten new cases were referred to the association for handling. In addition to the patients themselves, there were thirty-one persons living in close contact with these cases who are likewise being checked by the association.

"Unless more contributions come in, we will have to restrict the number of new cases we can take. Our present budget calls for $8,000, which would permit us to pay for X-ray examinations of new referrals and their families, as well as to check our old cases as frequently as needed," officials of the association said.

"Undiagnosed and uncared for cases of tuberculosis are a menace to the whole community. Our job is to find them and isolate them to protect the well persons. However, without the funds we need, we will be unable to do as much work as we know will be necessary during the coming year."

CENTER THEATER

Here are two important resolutions that interest every show lover in this community. First the management of the Center Theater resolves that when better pictures are made they will always be shown at the Center. And second, the people of this community resolve that they will see these latest and best productions at their local show house. That's what we call co-operation, real honest-to-goodness helping one another. The fact of the matter is that the Center, under the present management, has furnished just what the people of the community appreciated and the ticket sales have kept the show house operating four evenings a week.

Now is the time to show our appreciation in these first days of the new year. While we say "Happy and Prosperous New Year" let's back it up with our home patronage to the fullest extent. The above is unsolicited by the management of the Center, but the writer realizes that the Center Theater is entitled to these words of commendation and will boost for the theater and all other Bensenville business, that they may have in reality a Prosperous 1936.

Turn to the Center Theater advertisement and program for this week and then see that you don't miss Joe E. Brown and Ann Dvorak in "Bright Lights" Friday and Saturday, or Ginger Rogers in "Top Hat" Sunday and Monday evenings. You can't afford to miss either of these.

Take Unusual Trip Thru Seven Southern States

William Kirchhoff, Sr. and Grandson Visit Interesting Places During Vacation

William Kirchhoff, Sr., of Mount Prospect and his grandson, Carl W. Zersen of Itasca spent the first two weeks of December visiting southern Illinois and seven other states. They give our readers a vivid description of the places they visited, adding here and there a bit of interesting history about these southern states and cities.

The Trip
The object of the trip was to see what the cities and the country in the South Central States looked like, since neither of us had ever seen this section of the country before.

A tour of the most important cities was mapped out in advance and a round trip ticket bought at the offices of the Illinois Central railroad.

This tour took us through eight states, including Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Missouri.

Transportation costs were very reasonable. The round trip ticket on the steam railroad was $43.61 and $2.00 on the electric train, a total of $45.61. Dividing the total mileage of 2,599 into $45.61, we get the very nominal cost of 1.8 cents per mile.

The courtesy of the railway employees, from conductor to porter, the luxurious accommodations of the coaches, the air conditioning, the new lighting, the genial news "butcher" with his magazines, books, newspapers, fruits and candy, all help to make long distance travel enjoyable and pleasant.

The best way to get a sound impression of any country or city is to live there. To visit for only a few hours or days in any locality one can become acquainted with the customs and traits of the people in only a superficial manner. One visits only the so-called "high spots," the best known places, the most beautiful buildings and places of historic interest. The country, as seen either from the observation platform or through the windows of the coach, show what kind of crops are raised; whether mule, horse or tractor is used; whether the help or population is black or white; whether the soil is sandy, clay, black, swampy, level or hilly. However, to people on a vacation trip this sort of information is all one expects to get. It is sufficient to form comparisons between one section of the country and another. One learns that every state and every country has its beauty spots, and everyone thinks that his or her state is the best in the Union. How sad it would be if every one thought that only one state offered ideal living conditions.

Following are some of the things which came to our mind, when reminiscing over this vacation trip. Memphis was our first stop. It is a city of about 300,000 people. It is, like a great many other cities in the South, a cotton and lumber center. Water is obtained from artesian wells. Yellow fever was a great plague in Memphis at a vacation of about 1880. 5,400 people died of this disease in 1878. Many beautiful colonial mansions, with spacious lawns are to be seen in the residential section.

Jackson, Mississippi has a population of about 75,000. The state capital is a very beautiful building. The state legislature was in session while we were there. The city was named after President Andrew Jackson.

Vicksburg, Miss., is only about 40 miles from Jackson. The National Military Park is located about three miles out of the city. This park covers 1800 acres. 18,000 soldiers of the Battle of Vicksburg lie buried here and over 12,000 of them are nameless. Beautiful monuments and vaults have been erected here by the various states. The State of Illinois has the most beautiful and largest monument, since it furnished more soldiers than any other state during the Civil War. Trenches made during this battle can still be seen. The location, where the surrender took place, is marked with a cannon, having its barrel pointed to the sky. The battle lasted 45 days. The entire terrain is covered with forest, high hills and cliffs and deep ravines, where the Southern Army stored its supplies. However, General Grant of the Northern Army starved them out and surrender took place on July 4, 1863.

Baton Rouge was the next stop. It is the capital city of Louisiana. The capitol has just recently been completed at a cost of $5,000,000. It is considered by many to be the most beautiful capitol building in the United States. Unlike most state capitol buildings, which resemble the U. S. Capitol building in Washington, with a dome over the center portion, this building consists of a 27 story tower, with a beacon on top and floodlighted at night. In the main lobby are two beautiful four foot vases, donated by France to the State of Louisiana. Only a few feet from the main lobby, in a side corridor leading to the office of the governor, is where U. S. Senator Huey Long was assassinated. He lies buried now in the sunken garden in front of the capitol, where later on the State of Louisiana expects to erect a fitting monument. The true facts regarding the meteoric career of U. S. Senator Huey Long can only be obtained by visiting in the State of Louisiana. Ten years ago this state had 54 miles of paved country road. The result was that tourists avoided the state. Today it has 4,000 miles of either pavement or macadam. All oil companies must pay five cents of tax per barrel on raw oil shipped into the state, and one cent per barrel on oil shipped out of the state. All text books for grammar, high school and college students are free to enable poor boys and girls to obtain an education. Until several years ago every farmer had to pay a tax if he had more than one mule or horse and two cows. Now a movement is on foot to exempt up to 100 head of cattle. The state university now has 5,000 students and leading professors have been brought in from other prominent universities to help build up the school's scholastic reputation. The "share the wealth" program is still believed in by many, but no one seems to know how it was to function or operate. It seems to be similar to other plans of distributing wealth now current, but none of them seem to be sound; otherwise, figures or plans would be in evidence to show how they would operate. They make good publicity and that seems to be all that will ever result of them.

New Orleans is where we made the longest stop. This city was founded in 1718 and has belonged to both France and Spain. It is the largest city in the South, boasting a population of about 500,000. It was the first city in the U. S. to have an annual opera season. In square mile area it is the third largest in the U. S., preceded only by Los Angeles and Chicago. Canal street, corresponding to State street in Chicago, is built over a canal and is 170 feet wide. Beautiful shops and stores, among them Maison Blanche Department Store, line the street. It is more brilliant lighted than State street in Chicago. This is in a large measure due to the many sparkling and flashing signs. It has four street car tracks. To the south of Canal street is the old city, with its historic places. Among them is Andrew Jackson's home; the Ursuline Convent, to which the King of France sent several hundred women, eventually to become the wives of the early American colonists; the first U. S. mint, now a prison; blocks and blocks of stores, dealing in antiques; the French and Spanish quarters with their many restaurants and patios. The second floor balconies have railings made of beautiful wrought iron. It is said that the old French men obtained these patterns from the silk doilies made by their wives and then had them poured by the French iron workers.

Antoin's is a world famous restaurant, located in the French quarter. It is over 100 years old and now in the hands of the third generation of Antoin's. Many of the U. S. presidents and famous business and theatrical people have had their first taste of oysters Ala Rockefeller in this restaurant, a creation of Antoin.

Another famous eating place is Kolbs, also very old. Recently Mr. Kolb visited the Old Heidelberg restaurant in Chicago, and now he has interchanged also a Tyrolean Quartette, singing German and English songs as well as playing instrumental music.

The cemeteries are very unique in that almost all graves are in vaults above the ground. Some of these vaults, belonging to private families, cost over $100,000. Poor families rent vaults for a year and then bury their dead in the ground. The reason for burial above ground, is that New Orleans is only 10 feet above sea level. A hole two feet deep fills with water within a short time.

An international complication arose in New Orleans in 1891, when an Italian murdered the chief of police, whereupon a group of citizens of New Orleans lynched 25 Italians. The Italian government demanded an apology and $2,500 for each Italian killed, to which the U. S. government agreed, because lynching was contrary to law.

125,000 or 25% of the population in New Orleans is colored.

Streets in the old city and many in the new are so narrow that two cars cannot pass each other.

The highest and most prominent statue in the city is that of General Robert E. Lee, who with Jefferson Davis, president of the south during the Civil War, occupies a warm spot in the heart of every southerner. Our hotel room was one block from this statue.

Houston, Texas, our next stop after leaving New Orleans, is a beautiful, new and modern city. It has a population of about 300,000. The streets are wide and clean. Since it has many large hotels, it is the convention city of the south. The Rice Hotel has an architecture similar to the Palmer House and contains 1,000 rooms. The night we left, a flood descended on Houston, doing a $2,000,000 damage and delaying our train by five hours. A bridge had been washed out, with the result that the train had to return to Houston and 90 miles back toward New Orleans to take a different route. Houston is connected with a waterway to the Gulf of Mexico, built by the U. S. government. Since then it has become one of the most important shipping centers of the south.

Galveston, Texas is an island two or three miles from the shore of Texas. It is fifty miles from Houston and connected by train and Electric Interurban. It is the largest port in the south, being on the Gulf of Mexico. The dock workers were on strike while we were there. This city is famous for its bathing beaches, having 20 miles of them.

In 1900, a West Indian Hurricane swept over Galveston, killing 5,000 people, damaging 8,000 buildings and resulting in a $17,000,000 loss. Today the city is about 15 feet higher than in 1900 and another flood is unlikely. Hotels costing over $10,000,000 face the Gulf of Mexico and pavilions, eating places and bath houses are built on pilings over the water. The population is about 35,000.

Shreveport, Louisiana is a great cotton and wholesale center. It is near the Texas border. Almost half of its 50,000 population is colored. Little Rock, Arkansas is where the state capitol is located. The old capitol is still standing and our first glimpse of it was by moonlight at 12:30 a. m., at which time we were walking the street from the depot to the business district, looking for a hotel. The following day we visited the state capitol, which looked very similar to the capitol of Mississippi. The city is 400 feet above sea level, compared to 10 feet for New Orleans. In the one residential section visited, the sewers were still an open ditch.

St. Louis, Missouri was the next city where we made a stop over, but only long enough to get a 12:30 a. m. breakfast. Boarding the train again a little after 1:00 a. m., we arrived in Chicago at 7:30 a. m.

The 2,599 mile trip was over. We had seen the south central states, its cities, its country and its people, both the white and the black. The black race make good faithful servants. They do not worry about anything it seems. One sees them laughing and one hears them singing. They know and feel that the white men will take care of them and the white man does, whenever he can. The white people themselves say that they could not get along very well, if they did not have their colored people.

The main products in all the south central states are cotton, lumber, rice and sugar cane. Sugar cane grows especially well in the swamps and marsh land of La. The crop this year was unusually heavy, bringing $3.10 per ton. Hundreds of oil derricks could also be seen from the train in the states of Louisiana and Texas.

The bigness, the immense area occupied by the United States really cannot be appreciated until one has traveled the length and breadth of this country. Customs, habits, crops and climate change as one speeds along out of one state into another. There is no halting, no inspection by customs officials as one traverses state by state as is the custom in Europe. One of our states alone, Texas, is as big in area as either France or Germany. Millions and millions of acres in the south and west have never been broken and yet there is over-production of farm products or is it under-consumption. Which is it? Why is there need in a land of plenty?

Lost Books
The number of "biblical" writings that perished must be very considerable. Indeed, in the Bible itself there is mention of the lost "Book of the Wars of Jehovah," the "Book of the History of Solomon," histories by Samuel, Nathan the Prophet and Gad the Seer, annals of the Kings of Judah and Israel, with many other allusions to productions, great and small, of which there is no living trace now. Above all, perhaps twice mentioned in the Bible, the so-called "Book of Jasher."

Death Valley, Calif., Climate
The climate in Death Valley, Calif., is due in a measure to the configuration of the valley. It is a long, narrow valley considerably below sea level, and the Panamint mountains shut out the moist winds of the Pacific so that in August there is less than one-half of 1 per cent of moisture in the atmosphere.

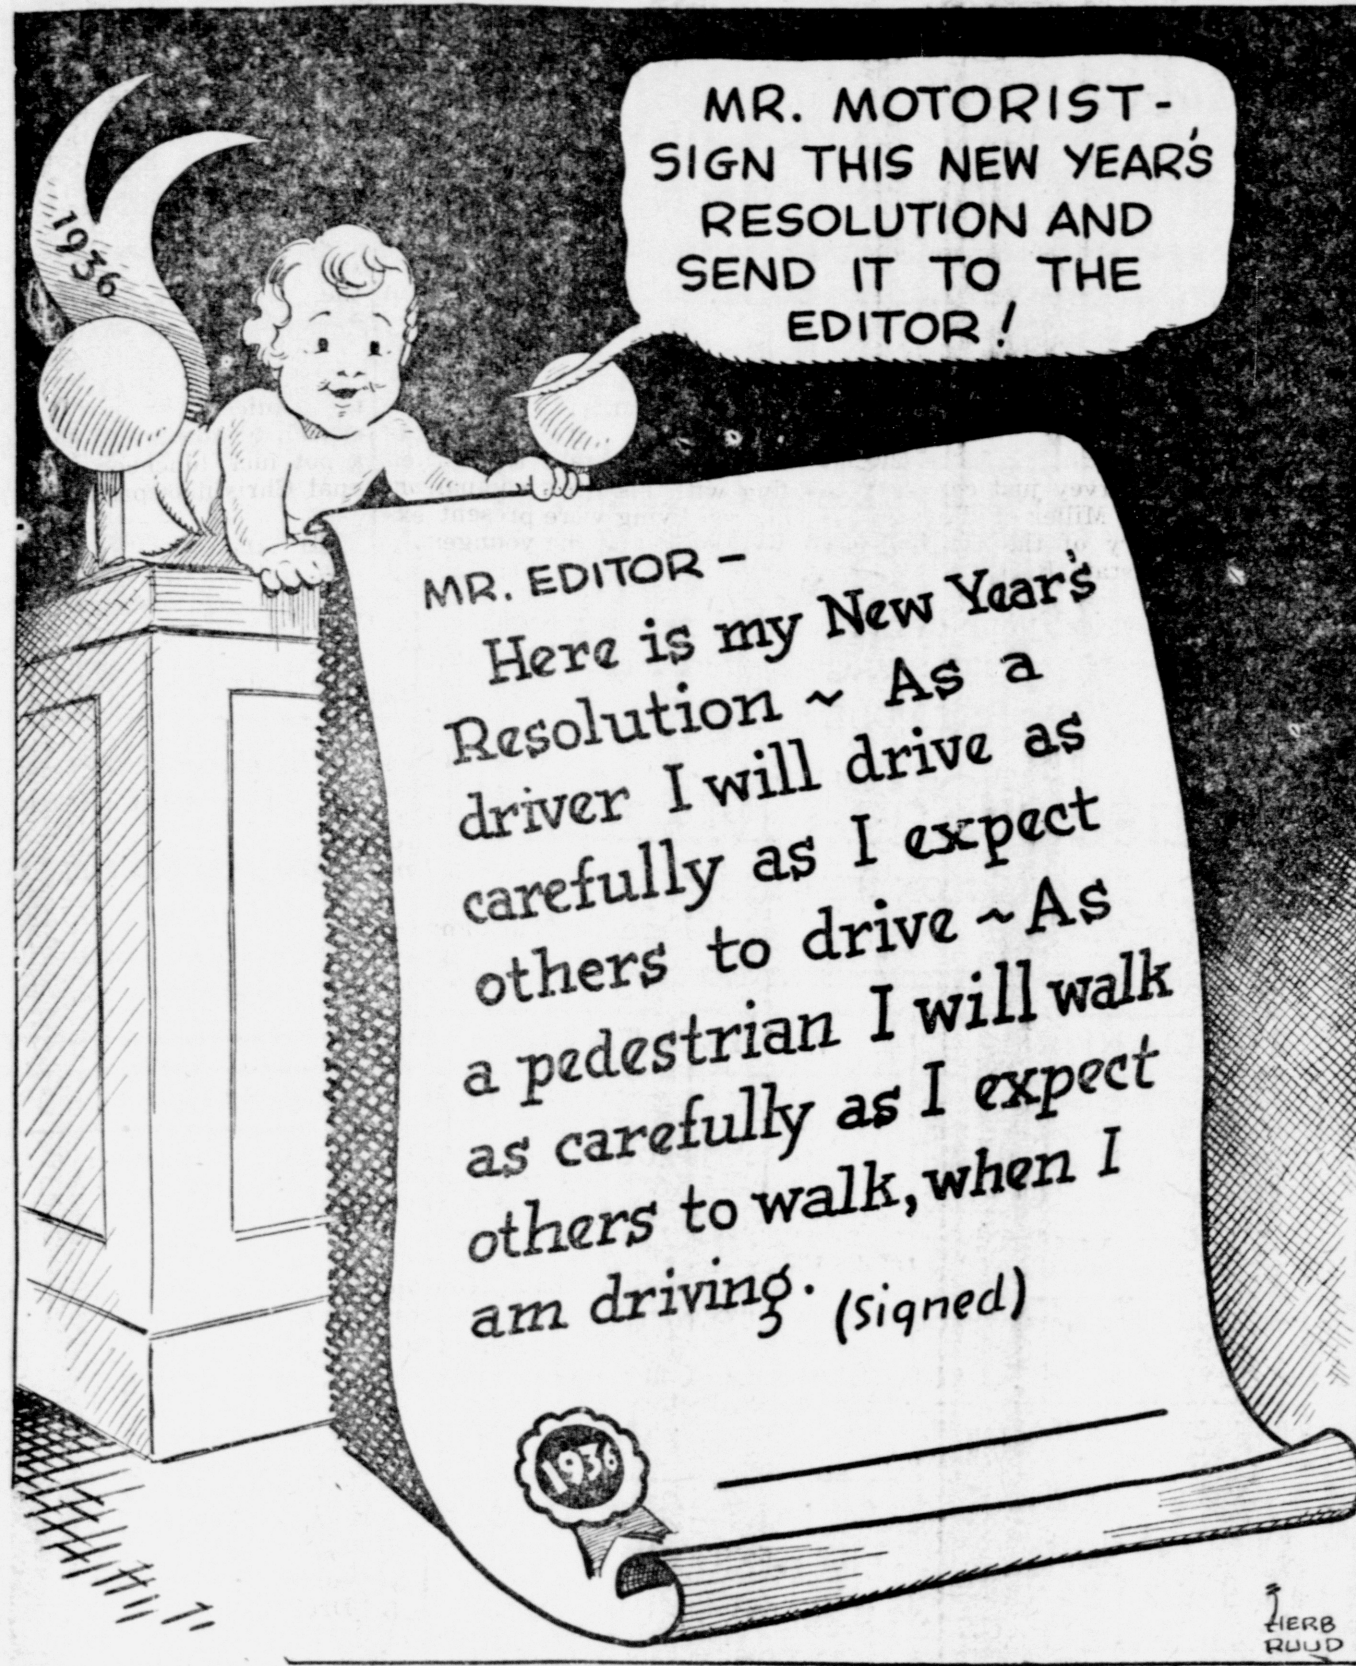

Waits for Mother
Other members of the family sometimes urge mother to let her work go, but she has found it won't go. It just stays there waiting for her.

FHA Head Predicts 1936 Building Boom

The Federal Housing Administration, in its first full year of activity in the northern Illinois district, has insured a total of 799 loans amounting to $4,283,035 under the mutual mortgage insurance provisions known as Title II of the National Housing Act, and 3,009 loans totaling $7,972,321 under the modernization credit plan known as Title I. Of the 799 Title II loans, 592 in amount of $2,787,700 were for refinancing on existing property, while the remaining 207 for $1,495,335 were for new home construction. At the same time the northern Illinois district office accepted for insurance a total of 595 mortgages with a loan value of $3,225,210. These figures were announced by John R. O'Connor, district director, in a brief resume of FHA accomplishment during 1935.

"This is a long step forward," said Mr. O'Connor, "in accomplishing our five-fold purpose, and with most of those engaged in the fields of real estate and building convinced that 1936 will usher in the greatest home building program of recent years, we naturally expect to handle a much greater volume of business during the coming year."

NEWS FROM SPRINGFIELD

BERNICE T. VAN DER VRIES
State Representative, 7th Dist.

The people of Illinois may well be proud of the position which the state holds in the Union. Illinois second in population is also second in wealth. Her income taxes paid to the Federal Government are exceeded only by the State of New York. Illinois is second in the volume of her wholesale trade. She is third in the value of farm property and holds the same position in the value of manufactured products. Her economic position is important in world affairs.

Her broad highways ribbon the state. A recent journey to the Southwest was climaxed by a drive almost the full length of the state from Cape Girardeau, Missouri to the North Shore over as fine a highway as could be found anywhere. The state parks of Illinois can match for scenic beauty any state except perhaps those having majestic mountain ranges.

Her monuments are assuming great beauty particularly the Lincoln tomb in Springfield.

Her universities and colleges contribute to the cultural progress of the State.

At the beginning of a New Year when all ledgers must be balanced what will we find on the red side of the ledger sheet? I fear that we shall find many civic and moral questions which could be remedied and quickly changed were the citizens and particularly the voters of Illinois thoroughly aroused to the point of aggressive action.

Heading the list of debits do we not owe to this great state the ability to have honest elections? Should not the ballot be held sacred? Would not a system of registration which would guarantee legal voting as well as affect great savings to the taxpayers in election costs be as worthwhile as any park or statue? Organizations such as the Citizens Association of Chicago and the Women's Civic Council of the Chicago Area should receive the support of every citizen in their efforts to secure proper punishment for those guilty of election frauds. We are people of party should assist the League of Women Voters and other civic groups when next the Permanent Registration Bills appear before the General Assembly.

Deep in the red is the lack of effort by the State to protect the citizens from death or injury by automobile traffic. Every session of the General Assembly in recent years has witnessed efforts to promote laws for safer driving and more severe penalties for drunken and reckless drivers. The states which require the standard license recommended by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety have shown an average accident rate 31% lower than the states requiring no license. Perhaps next week the General Assembly may vote upon the question of whether Illinois shall become one of the 21 states having a uniform law providing for the examination of new drivers and the issuance and revocation of licenses or even join 14 other states in some sort of a drivers license law. The success of such a measure appears doubtful.

Should the administration of relief be permanently a political matter or should the State Department of Public Welfare be reorganized so that one of its duties would be the investigating of relief cases and the disbursing of relief funds. The excellent report (commonly called the Doering report) issued by the Governor's Commission on Relief Problems advises an altogether new set-up more along the lines used by large industries for the Welfare Department. Will some of these recommendations be adopted or will these questions be left to the whims of politicians depending upon the party in power.

Many thoughtful citizens view with alarm what they regard as a breakdown in the civil service laws of the state. Civil service has been a long time in developing and its sponsors charge that waste and inefficiency come in when civil service department breaks down.

Finally and probably the question on which Illinois can take the least pride is that of the public schools. It is a long step from her second place in the economic life of the nation to her forty-third place in per capita expenditures for education (Figures for 1931). The last regular session of the General Assembly increased the amount of the state distributive fund by about three million for the biennium but refused to take care of a matter of $7,000,000 in arrearage of the state fund.

A second educational commission is soon due to report its findings to the Governor. It will recommend, according to reports, a state board of education, larger districts with proper equalization so that opportunities for education would be better equalized between the wealthy and poor districts of the state. The question uppermost in the minds of those truly interested in the schools of Illinois is whether the Governor will call a special session of the Legislature to act upon the findings and recommendations of the commission.

My wish for the New Year is that every citizen will consider it his duty to study carefully the needs of the state and to be a fearless champion of every cause which he or she feels will balance the ledger in favor of the great state of Illinois.

WOULD PROTECT BANKING FIELD IN RURAL AREAS

American Bankers Association Would Combat Return of Excess Number of Banks

CITES LAX CHARTER POLICIES IN THE PAST

Finds a Chief Cause of Bank Failures Was Too Many Banks—Existing Sound Banks Serving Communities Well

NEW YORK.—Existing sound banks, especially the small banks in the rural districts which are serving their communities well, should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused by former lax chartering policies, which were mainly to blame for the unfavorable failure record of the past, says the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is brought out in a report covering an investigation by the commission of bank failures and chartering policies.

"The Commission's study gives an impressive revelation of how great a part mistaken public policies in the chartering of banks played in creating the unsound banking structure which finally collapsed with the Bank Holiday in March 1933," Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, says in a foreword.

"Over-production of banks, literally by thousands, over many years in the face of insistent warnings not only from bankers and others who recognized the danger, but even more so from the mounting records of bank failures themselves, is clearly shown to have constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the Nation."

A Recurrence Feared
He refers to fears of a recurrence of over-banking recently expressed by Federal banking authorities, to the powers given the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by the provision of the Banking Act of 1935 over the admission of banks to membership in the insurance fund, to strengthened state laws and to the policies now being followed by both national and state supervisory authorities aimed to safeguard the nation against over-banking.

"But sound laws and conscientious officials are not of themselves always sufficient safeguard in any field of our complex national life unless they have the active support of public opinion," he adds. "It is the purpose of the American Bankers Association to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities in their efforts to strengthen and protect the banking structure."

The Economic Policy Commission summarizes its findings as follows: "The facts show a distinct causal relationship between the over-chartering of banks and the abnormal bank failure conditions that prevailed from 1920 to the bank holiday in 1933. It is desirable that studies be made on the basis of experience to develop standards governing the number of banks."

"Such a study would embrace the question whether banking facilities can best be supplied to the rural districts by small unit banks or by branches from banks of substantial capital in larger centers. Existing sound banks, which are serving their communities well should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused in the past by lax chartering policies."

Banking Officials Queried
"An inquiry among state commissioners shows a preponderant opinion against increasing materially the number of banks, coupled with the fact that present laws give them sufficient discretion to prevent a repetition of errors of the past."

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the Federal Government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks, and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing, the banking structure even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital investment and operating personnel."

"These are new factors, intensifying the need for highly prudent and restrictive chartering policies. We urge the retirement of the Federal Government from the banking business as normal conditions warrant."

Conference on Banking
NEW YORK.—An eastern states conference on banking service will be held by the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia January 23 and 24 as a part of the organization's nationwide program on banking development, it has been announced.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the association will preside over the meetings. It is stated that this conference will be the first of several to be held in various sections.

The general topic of the conference will embrace the managerial, legislative and operative problems confronted by all classes of banks. An outstanding phase of the meetings will be the development of plans for promoting a general better public understanding in regard to the functions and policies of banks.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD CHARACTER STUDIES

With a selftimer on your camera, you can make "character" snapshots of yourself.

DID you ever stop to think that all of us have had a desire at some time to be a stage or screen star? Deny it or not it is still true that we like to see ourselves in pictures—although it may be just a snapshot.

Way down deep in everybody's nature is that feeling that we have certain points of similarity to some noted actor or actress. Then too there are certain facial expressions that we have cultivated which seem always to amuse our friends.

Now if you want to convince yourself of your ability—or failure—as a comedian or a tragedian you can do so quite effectively with your own camera. Put yourself in pictures.

Few properties are needed for these personal, informal character snapshots. Special costumes are not always necessary, for in many instances it will be the facial expression that tells the story. In the two pictures shown here, however, the costume plays a rather important part. A burnt cork, sharpened to a point, will help accentuate the features of the character you wish to portray.

You may find it difficult to hold a certain expression for more than a few seconds so have your camera-man have his camera properly focused, and ready to shoot before you "go into character."

Suppose that you want to experiment with the idea by yourself. You can take your own picture. How? Use a self timer. A self timer is an inexpensive gadget that fits over the end of the button on the cable release of a folding camera. It is adjustable so that you can set it to give you as much as 30 seconds to take your position before your camera and contort your face into character and then—zip—and you have your picture. Some camera shutters have a built-in self timer so if you have one of these models and haven't used this feature now's your chance.

These snaps can be taken outdoors or indoors by well lighted windows or at night with two or three floodlight lamps. With floodlight lamps, however, it will be necessary to use a camera with an f.6.3 or faster lens. The shutter speed in this instance should be set at 1/25 second. Set the diaphragm at f.6.3.

You will find this type of snapshotting a lot of fun and it will help you while away many hours during the cold winter days and nights when outdoor activities are none too pleasant.

YOUTH AND THE MODEL "T"

By ANNE CAMPBELL

A PUFF and a squeak, and it's plain to see, My daughter is having company! They all pile out of a Model "T"!

It's covered with paint of a lurid hue— Red and yellow and purple, too, And the windshield is strange to the adult view!

But the fifteen-year-olds who all say it's "hot" Are gay as if pulled in a chariot By six white steeds on a movie lot!

It wheezes and makes a peculiar noise That is drowned by the laughter of the boys Who call for the girls in this weird-est of toys!

And I laugh, as I think I would rather be Eddie and Jack with that Model "T" Than the wealthiest magnate of history!

A Rhyme O' Health

See your toothbrush twice a day, Your dentist twice a year, And don't forget fresh milk for teeth, It keeps them strong, my dear!

REMEMBER way back when we learned "Thirty days has September"—? Do you still use that childhood rhyme to determine the length of the month?

Of course! We all do! Well, here's another—a rhyme about caring for your teeth that's just as easy to learn and just as easy to remember as the calendar one.

Children from four to ninety-four will love it, "cause it's really awfully good advice done up in an attractive way—sort of "sugar-coated pill of wisdom"—like one of old Aesop's fables.

After all, your teeth are alive and should be kept healthy just as the other parts of your body are. And while regular brushing and dental inspection is just as essential as regular bathing and medical examinations, there are certain foods required for building teeth and maintaining tooth health as much as for building strong bones and muscles.

Milk is especially a tooth building food because of the large calcium and phosphorus content, both of which minerals are absolutely essential for good teeth.

THE HUNTED WATCHES THE HUNTER

IT WAS so quiet and peaceful and altogether lovely there in the Green Forest where Lightfoot the Deer lay resting behind a pile of brush near the top of a little hill that it didn't seem possible such a thing as sudden death should be anywhere near. It didn't seem possible that there could be any need for watchfulness. But Lightfoot long ago learned that often danger is nearest when it seems least to be expected. So, though he would have liked very much to take a nap, Lightfoot was too wise to do anything so foolish. He kept his beautiful great, soft eyes fixed in the direction from which the hunter with the terrible gun would come if he were still following Lightfoot's trail. He kept his great ears gently moving to catch every little sound. Lightfoot had about decided that the hunter had given up hunting for that day, but he didn't let this keep him from being any the less watchful. It was better to be overwatchful than the least bit careless. By and by Lightfoot's keen ears caught the sound of the snapping of a little stick in the distance. It was so faint a sound that you or I would have missed it altogether. But Lightfoot heard it and instantly he was doubly alert, watching in the direction from which that faint sound had come. After what seemed a long time he saw something moving and a moment later a man came into view. It was the hunter and across one arm he carried the terrible gun.

It was the Hunter and Across One Arm He Carried the Terrible Gun.

Lightfoot knew now that this hunter had patience and perseverance and had not yet given up hope of getting near enough to shoot him. The hunter moved forward slowly, setting each foot down with the greatest care so as not to snap a stick or rustle the leaves. He was watching sharply ahead, ready to shoot should he catch a glimpse of Lightfoot within range. Right along through the hollow at the foot of the little hill below Lightfoot the hunter passed. He was no longer studying the ground for Lightfoot had left no tracks. He was simply hunting in the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes were blowing because he knew that Lightfoot had gone in that direction and he also knew that if Lightfoot were still ahead of him his scent could not be carried to Lightfoot. He was doing what is called, "hunting up wind."

Lightfoot kept perfectly still and watched the hunter disappear among the trees. Then he silently got to his feet, shook himself lightly, and noiselessly stole away over the hilltop towards another part of the Green Forest. He felt sure that hunter would not find him again that day.

EVERYDAY DISHES

A GOOD ox tail soup is a favorite dish with many. The following stew is worth adding to the card index:

Ox Tail Stew.

Wash the short lengths of ox tail and brown in its own fat. Cook two chopped onions in two tablespoonfuls of butter, add to the meat with two and one-half quarts of water. Simmer until the meat is tender. A half hour before serving add four diced carrots, two diced turnips and one large potato, two teaspoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, salt and pepper to taste. When the vegetables are soft thicken the stew with flour and add water mixed to a paste. Cook until well thickened.

Banana Junket.

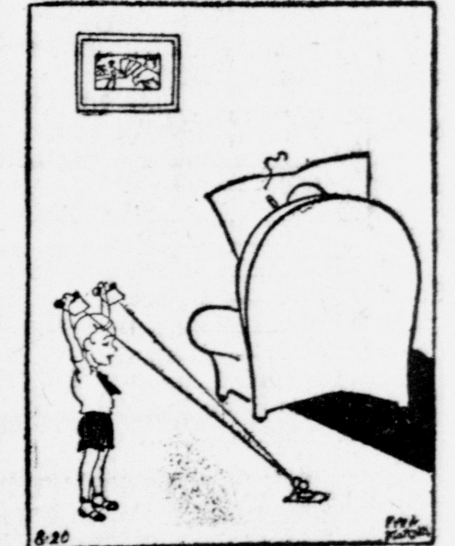

Dissolve a junket tablet in a tablespoonful of water, add to a pint of warmed milk. Flavor to suit the taste. Slice bananas into sherbet cups and pour the junket over them. Let stand in a warm place until firm. Mash one banana and add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and beat the white of an egg until stiff, add one-half cupful of sugar and the banana; beat until thick. Add as a topping to the dessert.

Lemon Cheese Treat.

Prepare a sponge by using one tablespoonful of gelatin dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water, one cupful of sugar, a few grains of salt and one-fourth cupful of lemon juice. When the jelly begins to thicken beat with a rotary egg beater until light and frothy, then fold in one cupful of cottage cheese. Put into molds and serve as a dessert or salad.

Why Chimneys Are Bent

When a chimney isn't bent just above the fireplace to "make" a draft rain sometimes falls on fire, but no modern chimneys lack this shelf-like place that catches drops. When a fire is in the fireplace it seems to send out a column of hot air that scatters drops in the few instances they fall vertically.

Vitamins Essential for Healthy Living

By ADELAIDE SPOHN, Ph. D.

Nutritionist of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund and Director of Nutrition Service, Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Adelaide Spohn, Ph. D.

WE HEAR a great deal and we read a great deal these days about vitamins and the importance of including them in the diet. But we don't always hear enough about WHY the vitamins are needed and HOW we may be sure of getting sufficient vitamins to maintain good health.

Everybody, especially children, should have vitamins. And the best way to get them is to eat foods in which they are abundant. When planning menus consult the outline given below and then include those foods that will provide the vitamins. It would be wise to clip this outline, paste it on a file card and keep it in your recipe or menu file.

VITAMIN A is essential because it maintains health and vigor and promotes longevity. It helps to prevent infections, especially of the eyes and respiratory system, and is found in butter, cheese, whole milk, carrots, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and watercress.

VITAMIN B stimulates the appetite and promotes digestion. It protects the body from nervous diseases (beriberi, polyneuritis) and is found in whole grain cereals, peas, egg yolk, fruits, vegetables, milk, liver and cheese.

VITAMIN C, which is found in large quantities in citrus fruits and in lesser quantities in cabbage, lettuce, onions, spinach and tomatoes, protects the body from scurvy. It is required for proper growth of bones and for normal teeth formation. This vitamin is required by everyone, but is especially essential for growing children.

VITAMIN D is the preventive for rickets and is called the Sunshine Vitamin because sunshine is a very important source of it. The various irradiated foods, cod liver oil and other fish liver oils supply this Vitamin D.

VITAMIN G is found in milk, eggs, spinach, beets, turnip greens and liver. It prevents pellagra and helps preserve the characteristics of youth.

MAKE YOUR ROUNDS BEFORE CHRISTMAS
by Telephone

It is so easy and simple to make contacts with out-of-town customers by telephone. Alert salesmen make frequent use of Long Distance telephone calls to talk with their customers and make additional sales in between regular personal visits. A telephone call is the quickest method of covering territory for those profitable "repeat orders." Clean up your sales territory before the holidays by telephone-selling—it may give you extra time to spend at home with your family during the Christmas and New Year season. The cost is small, wherever you call.

The word "Dynasty"

The word "dynasty" may be pronounced either dai-nas-ti (as in aisle, a as in final, i as in habit), or din-as-ti (first i as in hit, a as in final, second i as in habit). The first indicates American usage; the second the usage of Great Britain. Formerly, the British lexicographers, Perry (1775), Sheridan (1739), Walker (1791), Fulton and Knight (1802), Enfield (1807), and Knowles (1835) noted the first as English usage; but Entick (1764), Elphinstone (1786), Jones (1798), Jamieson (1827), Smart (1840), and Reid (1843) gave the second.—Literary Digest.
